

SECESSION"
TERM TO USE

Walker to Offer Resolution
Moderate Reunion Pro-
scribing "Civil War."

Charleston, July 24.—Gen. C. Irvine Walker has announced his intention of introducing at the reunion of the South Carolina division, United Confederate Veterans, to be held in Greenwood this week, the following resolution:

Whereas, the term "Civil War," as now most generally applied to the war between the Confederate States and the United States, 1861-65, is improper, in that it reflects unjustly upon the legal and constitutional action of the Confederacy;

And, whereas, "Civil War" means a contest between two or more portions of the people of the same country;

And, whereas, the sovereign states, subsequently united into the Confederate states, had legally, constitutionally and peacefully seceded from the other states of the Union and were not, during said war, a part of the Union and not of the same country, therefore the term "Civil War" is absolutely incorrect and gives a mistaken conception of the legal action of the Confederates;

And, whereas, the use of the words "Civil War" as applied to the war of 1861-65 can only mean that it was a war between two parts of the same country, and be correct only if the sovereign states so seceding did not constitutionally leave the old Union;

And, whereas, this term is used by many innocently and without due consideration of its legitimate and inferential meaning, such will surely coincide with us when it is brought to their attention and realize that it really implies that their patriotic ancestors were traitors to the Union and not as they really were defenders of the great American principle as defined by President Woodrow Wilson, that all governments should rest upon the consent of the governed.

Therefore be it resolved:
1. That the South Carolina division, United Confederate Veterans, condemn the use of the term "Civil War" when applied to the war between the Confederate and United States, and prohibit its use at or during any of our official reunions or other meetings of veterans of this division.

2. That this war be known as the "War of Secession."

3. That we earnestly urge all the people of this country to cease using the term "Civil War" for the "War of Secession." We ask this of our friends and our descendants because of its injustice and of our enemies because of the grand loyalty of the Confederates and their descendants to this our now common country in every danger which has threatened it since 1865.

4. That copies of this preamble and these resolutions be sent by the adjutant general of this division to the general commanding the United Confederate Veterans and to each of the division commanders, the president general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the president of the Southern Memorial Association and the commanding officer of the Sons of Veterans, with the request that they be presented to their respective commands at their next reunion and the adoption of similar action be asked from each.

SENTENCES ALL OUT OF PROPORTION TO CRIMES

"Spanish Inquisition Not a Mark to Cruelties Against the Soldiers in France."

Washington, July 21.—Complete amnesty for all soldiers, sailors and marines convicted by court-martial except those whose offenses would be a felony under federal statutes was proposed in a bill introduced today by Senator Chamberlain, Democrat, Oregon, and referred to the military committee.

"The stories coming to me," said Senator Chamberlain in a statement to the senate, "many of them being verified, of the outrages being committed against young men through the instrumentality of court-martials are so horrible that some legislation ought to be acted upon promptly to obtain relief. The fact that already the clemency board has reduced the sentences in the aggregate from 28,000 years to 6,700 years is proof positive that the sentences were out of all proportion to the crimes committed. These 6,000 years ought to be wiped out or placed at an irreducible minimum.

"I want the people to understand the terror inflicted upon our young men by these sentences and also the cruelties practiced against them.

"The Spanish inquisition was not a mark to some of the cruelties practiced against these soldiers in France."

Senator Chamberlain referred to the investigation of cruelties being made by a house committee and said he would discuss some cases of cruelty in a speech to the senate at a later date.

It became known today that General Pershing had made a report to the war department regarding charges of brutality against prisoners at the Bastille and prison farm number two in France. Secretary Baker said he regretted that he could not make the report public immediately, but added that he would do so as soon as he had had time to read it and collect from officers now in this country information regarding steps taken to punish those responsible.

BELGIAN DOORMAN IS WEARING GAY UNIFORM

Gorgeous Raiment of South Carolina
Governor's Colonel Adorns
His Back.

Col. J. Rion McKissick, formerly a member of Governor Manning's staff, has just made a novel discovery of the whereabouts of a gorgeous uniform which he wore when the governor's staff was called upon to lend dignity to numerous public affairs. The discovery is another proof of "it pays to advertise," though Colonel McKissick in this case was not the advertiser, and, as it developed, was not bent upon tracing his uniform. He had forgotten all about it, as a matter of fact, until the other day he read a story to the effect that an army officer who had just returned from overseas declared that he saw the doorman at one of the big hotels in Brussels wearing a uniform that was once worn by a member of the staff of a governor of South Carolina.

The officer said he was at the hotel in Brussels one day when his attention was attracted by the uniform worn by the doorman. It looked strangely familiar, being a brilliant navy blue with a quantity of gold braid across the front and shoulders, and having the initials "S. C." on the collar. Upon closer inspection he found that every one of the dozen or more shiny brass buttons on the coat was adorned by the familiar palmetto tree.

The doorman did not speak English, so the officer hunted around until he found an interpreter and then began to make inquiries. According to the story which he was able to piece together, some time last year there was a drive in the United States for second hand clothing for the benefit of the Belgians and this gorgeous uniform, once the pride of some member of a governor's staff, was in one of the boxes of clothing received at Brussels.

The hotel doorman had secured the uniform and, having it cut down to fit, had donned it and worn it ever since. The doorman was immensely proud of the uniform and firmly believed that it belonged to a field marshal of the American army, long since deceased, and that his family, out of their generosity, had donated it to the Belgians. There was nothing about the uniform that would identify the original owner, the officer said.

Colonel McKissick happened to read the story and casually commented that he was satisfied the uniform seen in Brussels was once his. He turned in his uniform with some other clothing when a collection of garments was made at Camp Sevier last

Delicate Mechanism

Despite its scope Swift & Company is a business of infinite details, requiring infinite attention.

Experienced men must know livestock buying with a knowledge of weight, price, the amount and quality of meat the live animals will yield.

Each manufacturing operation must be done with expert skill and scientific precision. A highly perishable product must be handled with speed and care to avoid loss.

Chemists, engineers, accountants, and other specialists are required to take care of our intricate problems.

Alert wisdom and judgment must be used in getting stocks of goods into the open channels of demand through our four hundred branch houses. Branch house organizations must show activity and energy to sell at the market in the face of acute competition from other large packers, and hundreds of small ones.

All these requirements of intelligence, loyalty, devotion to the task, are met in the personnel of Swift & Company. Yet the profit is only a fraction of a cent per pound with costs at minimum.

How can the workings of this delicate human mechanism be improved upon?

Do you believe that Government direction would add to our efficiency or improve the service rendered the producer and consumer?

year for the relief of the Belgians. At that time the Greenville newspaper man was preparing to enter the military service and he thought he would have no further use for his gold braided, navy blue uniform. It was dumped into the mound of clothing at Camp Sevier and shipped across the water. A year elapsed, and the news now comes that the gorgeous uniform has gladdened the heart of a hotel doorman in Belgium.
